Item of Form (identify)	Answer
Item 1.D	Asset Management Fuller Asset Management, LLC (“the Adviser”) provides investment advisory services to its clients on a discretionary and non-discretionary basis. The advisory services include, among other things, providing advice regarding asset allocation and the selection of investments. Account management or supervision is guided by the stated objectives of the client. The Adviser also considers the client’s risk profile and financial status prior to making any recommendations. In addition, the client will be required to enter into one or more written agreements with the Adviser. The Adviser is compensated for investment management or supervisory services based on clients’ assets under management. Fees are paid quarterly in arrears. Fees are due on the first day of the calendar quarter, and are based on the account’s market value as of the last business day of the prior calendar quarter. Fees are prorated for accounts opened during the quarter. In its sole discretion, the Adviser may negotiate to charge a lesser management fee based upon certain criteria (i.e., anticipated future earning capacity, anticipated future additional assets, dollar amount of assets to be managed, related accounts, account composition, pre-existing client, account retention, pro bono activities, etc.). Accounts that include individual equities 0.50% to 1.00% Accounts consisting exclusively or mostly of fixed income products.....up to 0.50% An advisory client will have a period of five (5) business days from the date of signing the investment advisory agreement to unconditionally rescind the agreement and receive a full refund of all fees. Thereafter, either party may terminate the investment advisory agreement with 30 days written or verbal notice. The account custodian may charge fees, which are in addition to and separate from the investment advisory service fee. Custodians may charge accounts for various transaction costs, retirement plan and administration fees. In addition, some mutual fund assets deposited in the account may have been subject to deferred sales charges and 12 (b)(1) fees and other mutual fund annual expenses as described in each fund’s prospectus. Advisory clients should also note that fees for comparable services vary and lower fees for comparable services may be available from other sources. Since fees are payable after services are provided, there are no unearned fees and the client is not due a refund upon early terminate of an investment advisory contract. However the Adviser’s fees are prorated to the date of termination.
Item 3.L	Types of Investments & Analysis The Adviser may also provide advice about real estate investment trusts (REITs), exchange traded funds (ETFs) and any type of investment held in a client’s portfolio at the beginning of the advisory relationship.

Item 9	Transactions The Adviser has adopted a Code of Ethics for the purpose of instructing its personnel in their ethical obligations and to provide rules for their personal securities transactions. The Adviser and its personnel owe a duty of loyalty, fairness and good faith towards their clients, and the obligation to adhere not only to the specific provisions of the Code but to the general principles that guide the Code. The Code covers a range of topics that may include: general ethical principles, reporting personal securities trading, exceptions to reporting securities trading, reportable securities, initial public offerings and private placements, reporting ethical violations, distribution of the Code, review and enforcement processes, amendments to Form ADV and supervisory procedures. The Adviser will provide a copy of the Code to any client or prospective client upon request. When the Adviser is purchasing or considering for purchase any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the purchase or until a decision has been made not to purchase such security. Similarly, when the Adviser is selling or considering the sale of any security on behalf of a client, no Access Person may effect a transaction in that security prior to the completion of the sale or until a decision has been made not to sell such security. These requirements are not applicable to: (i) direct obligations of the Government of the United States; (ii) money market instruments, bankers' acceptances, bank certificates of deposit, commercial paper, repurchase agreements and other high quality short-term debt instruments, including repurchase agreements; (iii) shares issued by mutual funds or money market funds; and (iv) shares issued by unit investment trusts that are invested exclusively in one or more mutual funds.

Items 12 (A & B) & 13.A	reviewed by a Principal. Brokerage statements are generated no less than quarterly. These statements are sent directly from the account custodian. These reports list the account positions, activity in the account over the covered period, and other related information. Clients are also sent confirmations following each brokerage account transaction unless confirmations have been waived. Recommendations, Discretion & Other Compensation Except as provided for in any applicable wrap fee program, the brokerage commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Fidelity, TD Ameritrade or any other designated broker-dealer are exclusive of and in addition to the Adviser's fee. Factors which the Adviser considers in recommending Fidelity or any other broker-dealer, to clients include their respective financial strength, reputation, execution, pricing, research, and service. Fidelity and/or TD Ameritrade enable the Adviser to obtain many mutual funds without transaction charges and other securities at nominal transaction charges. The commissions and/or transaction fees charged by Fidelity and/or TD Ameritrade may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker-dealers. The commissions paid by the Adviser's clients shall comply with the Adviser's duty to obtain "best execution." However, a client may pay a commission that is higher than another qualified broker-dealer might charge to effect the same transaction where the Adviser determines, in good faith that the commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and research services received. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer's services, including among others, the value of research provided, execution capability, commission rates, and responsiveness. Consistent with the foregoing, while the Adviser will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client transactions. If the client requests the Adviser to arrange for the execution of securities brokerage transactions for the client's account, the Adviser shall direct such transactions through broker-dealers that the Adviser reasonably believes will provide best execution. Transactions may be cleared through other broker-dealers with whom the Adviser and the Financial Institution(s) have entered into agreements for prime brokerage clearing services. The Adviser shall periodically and systematically review its policies and procedures regarding recommending broker-dealers to its client in light of its duty to obtain best execution. The client may direct the Adviser in writing to use a particular broker-dealer to execute some or all transactions for the client. In that case, the client will negotiate terms and arrangements for the account with that broker-dealer, and the Adviser will not seek better execution services or prices from other broker-dealers or be able to "batch" client transactions for execution through other broker-dealers with orders for other accounts managed by the Adviser (as described below). As a result, the client may pay higher commissions or other transaction costs or greater spreads, or receive less favorable net

	prices, on transactions for the account than would otherwise be the case. Subject to its duty of best execution, the Adviser may decline a client's request to direct brokerage if, in the Adviser's sole discretion, such directed brokerage arrangements would result in additional operational difficulties. Transactions for each client generally will be effected independently, unless the Adviser decides to purchase or sell the same securities for several clients at approximately the same time. The Adviser may (but is not obligated to) combine or "batch" such orders to obtain best execution, to negotiate more favorable commission rates, or to allocate equitably among the Adviser's clients differences in prices and commissions or other transaction costs that might have been obtained had such orders been placed independently. Under this procedure, transactions will generally be averaged as to price and allocated among the Adviser's clients pro rata to the purchase and sale orders placed for each client on any given day. To the extent that the Adviser determines to aggregate client orders for the purchase or sale of securities, including securities in which the Adviser's Advisory Affiliate(s) may invest, the Adviser shall generally do so in accordance with applicable rules promulgated under the Advisers Act and no-action guidance provided by the staff of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. The Adviser shall not receive any additional compensation or remuneration as a result of the aggregation. In the event that the Adviser determines that a prorated allocation is not appropriate under the particular circumstances, the allocation will be made based upon other relevant factors, which may include: (i) when only a small percentage of the order is executed, shares may be allocated to the account with the smallest order or the smallest position or to an account that is out of line with respect to security or sector weightings relative to other portfolios, with similar mandates; (ii) allocations may be given to one account when one account has limitations in its investment guidelines which prohibit it from purchasing other securities which are expected to produce similar investment results and can be purchased by other accounts; (iii) if an account reaches an investment guideline limit and cannot participate in an allocation, shares may be reallocated to other accounts (this may be due to unforeseen changes in an account's assets after an order is placed); (iv) with respect to sale allocations, allocations may be given to accounts low in cash; (v) in cases when a pro rata allocation of a potential execution would result in a de minimis allocation in one or more accounts, the Adviser may exclude the account(s) from the allocation; the transactions may be executed on a pro rata basis among the remaining accounts; or (vi) in cases where a small proportion of an order is executed in all accounts, shares may be allocated to one or more accounts on a random basis. Consistent with obtaining best execution, brokerage transactions may be directed to certain broker-dealers in return for investment research products and/or services which assist the Adviser in its investment decision-making process. Such research generally will be used to service all of the Adviser's clients, but brokerage commissions paid by one client may be used to pay for research that is not used in managing that client's portfolio. The receipt of investment research products and/or services as well as the allocation of the benefit of such investment research products and/or services poses a conflict of interest. The Adviser may receive from Fidelity and/or TD Ameritrade, without cost to the Adviser,
